Objective and investment strategy

The Sub-Fund's investment objective is to use a diversified portfolio to generate value growth and appropriate income while implementing a strategy to limit risk. The fund management company strives for a target equity market exposure of 40% with limitations on the maximum equity market exposure of 45%.

The Sub-Fund invests principally in Swiss and international equity markets (USA, Europe and Japan), the bond markets in Swiss francs and Euro and in the Swiss money market. Mainly the following investment instruments are used: equity securities and equity rights by issuers worldwide, debt securities and debt rights by issuers worldwide (for the most part, bonds of the Swiss Confederation), money market instruments in Swiss francs, investment funds and ETFs (Exchange Traded Funds).

The investment strategy provides for the limitation of the impact of important daily price fluctuations, in particular, in connection with strong turbulence on the markets or in periods of a significant bear market. To achieve this, the allocation in more volatile investments is temporarily reduced if the average daily price fluctuation exceeds a specific limit.

Within the threshold of 200% of the net assets within the subfund, the investment strategy adopted is one of direct investment or derivatives. The latter typically include both standardised derivatives traded on the stock exchange and non-standardised OTC (over-the-counter) traded derivatives such as total return swaps.
